Chain area floods again

FLOOD WATERS. Water levels on the Chain-o-Lakes have risen drastically in the past week, flooding many homes. Meanwhile, State Rep. W.J. Murphy, who sponsored legislation creating a commission to study problems on the Chain, blasted the Director of the State Department of Conservation for his "Nero fiddled while Rome burned attitude" toward the situation. ## Officials air views on planning

Nothing was officially settled, but Antioch officials apparently have a better understanding of each other's views after a joint meeting last Wednesday of the Village Board, Zoning Board and Planning Commission.

Professional planner Bruce Christensen spent much of the evening explaining his proposed Preliminary Land Use Map for the Village and how he arrived at his various recommendations.

Underlying the entire session was a seeming impasse over the petition of Harold and Alice Young for R-5 (Multiple family) zoning for property they own at and behind 701 Main St. That petition has been the subject of debate since early last fall.

Christensen was questioned repeatedly as to why he had recommended against granting the Young petition. Most persistent of the questioners was Ken Clark, attorney for the Young's, who tried to pin Christensen down with a comparison of his recommendation against the Young property rezoning and his indication that another piece of property near North and Main would be best used for commercial purposes.

The ensuing discussion on zoning in general and on North and South Main Street in particular brought out the dilemma facing Village officials.

It is apparent that whatever decision is made on the Young petition affects all of the remaining properties on the east side of Main, at least from the library to North Avenue.

At the same time, officials must weigh the economic plight

"Nero fiddled while Rome burned" fits the attitude of the State and in particular, the Director of Conservation, regarding the flood situation on the Chain-o-Lakes, charged Representative W.J. Murphy (R. Antioch)

Again the people on many areas of the Chain-o-Lakes are being forced from their homes by flood conditions where up to a few years ago flood conditions did not exist in these areas.

Yet an unpublished report in the Conservation Department blandly states "flooding is not a serious problem on the Chain of Lakes." Murphy says: "Don't tell that to the people who are using a boat to get in and out of their homes!"

Rep. Murphy states that last year the Federal Government spent thousands and thousands of dollars after the flood, paying people flood damage aid, after we had it declared a disaster area. Nothing at all has been done since then to even start a prevention program. Now a lot of the same damage will be done over.

Rep. Murphy, however, has created the Chain-o-Lakes Commission which went into effect on February 15 with Mr. William Brook of Antioch as Chairman. Listed as its first priority is the flood problem.

Rep. Murphy says this commission is not going to be a "words commission" or a "paper commission." It is going to be a commission that demands of the State: "Don't tell us what you can't do; tell us what you can do, and do it!"

Murphy says the Commission is already angered by the fact that they requested the presence of Director Dean (Conservation Dept.) at the meeting then scheduled for Friday, March 15 and the Director very casually said he was too busy and the first time he could spare the time would be April 19. "The residents of the Chain would like to postpone the flood too," said Murphy, "but they do not have that luxury. The flood is now! It's real. The floating bogs will be coming next, as soon as the ice all gives way."

"We have an emergency and the State better face up to it! If we cannot get them to our meeting by invitation, we will resort to subpoenas. This is not a social club meeting! This is a Legislative Commission backed by Law with subpoena powers. This Commission understands the problem and the Department of Conservation, the Division of Waterways, their Directors, and the Governor have to be made to understand: this is an emergency! We won't accept words, we want action!"

Charge juvenile in bomb threats

A rural Antioch girl has been charged with making a telephone bomb threat to Antioch Community High School Friday, March 8.

Antioch Police Chief Jack Wells said that the girl will face action in the juvenile court. "Had this been an adult," Wells said, "the punishment for this offense would be much harsher."

Wells revealed that, through the cooperation of the high school and Illinois Bell Telephone security officials, tracers are periodically placed on school phones to protect against this harassment. This enables incoming phone calls to be traced, even after the caller has hung up, but does not allow the conversation to be overheard or recorded in any way.

EDITORIAL

We endorse. . .

It is customary for newspapers to editorially endorse certain candidates for public office. Before setting forth on this adventure, it would do well to offer a few comments on the meaning of such endorsements.

As newspapermen, publisher and editor, we feel a special responsibility to keep abreast of happenings in our community, to know what is developing, to know why, and to know who is involved. This is our duty particularly with respect to government and events of general public interest.

One might say that we are "professional" government watchers. From this vantage point, our endorsements indicate more than just a personal opinion. They represent a professional judgement of which candidates appear to us more qualified for office, more deserving of the public trust, more likely to provide outstanding public service.

Since such a judgement is valid only if it is based upon actual knowledge of the candidates and situations concerned, we do not presume to make an endorsement for every contest in the upcoming Primary Election.

A news story on page one of this paper lists all of the races in both parties for which there is some kind of contest. As is common in Primary Elections, for most nominations there is only one person in each party contending. Voters will have to wait till November to make a choice for those offices.

With regard to Tuesday's Primary Election, we endorse the following candidates for nomination to these offices:

FOR REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS

We urge Republicans to mark for the incumbent, Robert McClory for this nomination. His tenure in public office -- dating back to 1950 -- at this time makes him a better representative for the 13th District than his opponent, Edward Vass would be.

We have been highly impressed on several occasions with McClory's knowledge of public issues and of government in general. In the 12 years that he has represented this area in Congress, he has risen in prominence among his fellow Republicans, so that he is now the second-ranking member of his party on the important House Judiciary committee, which is presently dealing with the crucial issue of presidential impeachment.

Not only is McClory better able to deal with important national issues, we feel that he has always exhibited a keen interest in and response to the individuals and groups in his own district. No doubt, Ed Vass would be an adequate representative, if elected. However, we see no reason for rejecting experience for adequacy.

It is our feeling that Democrats should choose Stanley Beetham as their standard-bearer in this contest. From our observation, there is just no comparison between his knowledge and grasp of public issues and that of his opponent, Jimmy H. Martin.

With extensive experience in business and in economics, coupled with lessons learned in his 1972 campaign for the same office, Beetham should prove a formidable contender for McClory's seat. Martin's campaign, on the other hand, has thus far been built on platitudes and the Populist bogeymen of "Big Business, Big Government, and Big Money."

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Each party will nominate two candidates for this office who will vie for three seats in November. There are only two seeking the nominations in the Democratic Party.

Among the three Republican contenders, we again side with those having previous legislative experience: W.J. Murphy and Donald Deuster. The third candidate, Betty Lou Reed, would make a qualified representative, but would need time to accustom herself to the intricacies of the State legislature.

The 32nd District has the unique fortune of having two of its three incumbent representatives in positions of party leadership in the Illinois House. One of these men is W.J. Murphy, who at one time was Majority Leader and is now Majority Whip. While we do not always agree with him on specific issues, we are glad to have his expertise working for us.

In November 1972 we said of Donald Deuster, "He not only has the experience to stand on, but his personal integrity is without question." We find no reason to retract that statement. In the year that he has served in Springfield, he has shown himself to be an exceedingly energetic lawmaker, one who takes initiative, rather than resting on his position until it is necessary to cast a vote.

FOR COUNTY BOARD

With the realignment of County Board districts in 1972, as a result of the new State Constitution, some of the members elected two years ago must stand for office again. In the Fourth District, which covers Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant, Avon, Fremont and Wauconda Townships, three seats are up for election in November.

Four Democrats are seeking the three nominations in their party. We have no knowledge of any of them, beyond a single press release issued by the three who are running as a team. This is insufficient for making an endorsement at this time.

Of the five Republicans standing for nomination, we are acquainted with the qualifications of four. Again, we urge voters to mark for the three experienced candidates: Lloyd Murrie of Antioch, Ronald Coles of Lake Villa and George Bell of

Pension Reform subject of Congressional action

The House of Representatives has taken action on landmark legislation in the passage of two pension reform bills. These comprehensive measures are the result of more than 5 years of committee and task force investigations which revealed gross abuses of the pension rights of thousands of our nation's employees. It should be pointed out at once that abuses in these proportions are quite modest when it is recalled that more than 30 million American employees are covered by private pension plans -- with accumulated assets of more than $150 billion.

The Pension Reform Legislation brought to the House Floor by both the Education and Labor and the Ways and Means Committees, establishes minimum standards for private pension plans. Most important of these standards is that relating to "vesting" -- a term which contemplates the permanent proprietorship of an employee in a pension fund after a fixed period of service. While this standard is flexible in order to meet the divergent provisions contained in the myriad private pension programs, one such standard would establish vesting rights equal to 25 percent of accumulated benefits after 5 years of service with vested rights increasing at the rate of 5 percent per year for subsequent service until a 100 percent vested interest would be established after 15 years of continuous employment.

Another provision assures that pension benefits will be available notwithstanding that an employer may experience financial difficulties or an employee may be separated prior to the time of his retirement. These employee rights are guaranteed by a program of planned termination insurance administered through a government operated corporation.

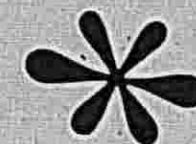

In addition to minimum standards for low salaried employees, the new legislation would limit individual pension benefits to a maximum of $75,000 per year. Increased incentives are to be provided for self-employed individuals such as doctors and lawyers who would be eligible to deduct up to $7500 per year for their individual retirement programs. A feature of this new legislation would permit individual employees whose employers do not have a pension or retirement plan to establish so-called individual retirement accounts authorizing allowable tax deductions up to $1500 per year per individual or $3000 per year on a husband's or wife's joint return.

In order to assure that retirement pensions will be available when retirement age is reached, the measure establishes strict rules for funding, i.e. the financing of pension plans according to sound actuarial principles.

The cost to the federal government in this overall pension reform legislation is minimal -- as the measure applies solely to private pension programs and not to government employees or to any governmental pension system. The legislation is intended to encourage the establishment of private pension plans while giving greater worker assurance that retirement benefits will not be jeopardized because of any technicality or inadequate funding.

While some minor adjustments in individual programs may be required by this new legislation it should be added that the principal organizations representing both management and labor have indicated substantial approval of this pension reform program.

Letters to the Editor on any current issues are welcome. Only letters with names can be considered for this column. Signatures will be withheld on request. Letters cannot be returned and are subject to minor editing.

Dear Editor:

No taxpayer in Illinois disputes my contention that the property tax is our most overworked tax. Whenever local governments find a reason to increase their revenue, someone is always there to suggest increasing the property tax. This has been so despite the fact that the property tax was intended only to support government services directly related to real property.

We think it is now time to say stop. We want to freeze property tax for two years and take that time to overhaul this tax. Freezing the tax means it won't increase over 1973 levels.

We need help to get this question on the ballots so we can convince the skeptics that property owners want property tax relief and reform. Your readers who want to help us to help themselves should write to me in Springfield, in care of the State House, or call 217-525-6092.

Sincerely yours,
W. Robert Blair

Mundelein. We have been unimpressed with the record of Margaret Nelson as a trustee and citizen in Antioch. Robert Dickson of Wauconda has yet to attract any attention to himself.

Murrie, Coles and Bell have served from two to five terms each on the County Board. Bell is chairman of the Finance and Administrative Committee. Cole is Board Chairman. Murrie is a former Board Chairman, former Finance Committee Chairman and present chairman of the Public Service Committee. They have shown themselves capable of representing their constituents and effectively helping to run the county government. We see no reason why they should not continue in this regard.

VOTE "NO" ON R.T.A. REFERENDUM

The referendum on whether or not to create a Regional Transit Authority for northeastern Illinois involves a separate blue paper ballot. Do not forget to ask for this ballot.

We urge very strongly that you vote "No" on this ballot.

Those favoring the RTA have spent considerable time and money to convince you that a regional system is needed. They are probably right on this point, but the specific RTA Act under consideration is not the way to do it. This law has many shortcomings and would grant almost absolute power to a non-elected Board of nine persons, dominated by the mayor of Chicago.

You are being told that this is the only chance for creating an RTA. This simply is not true. There are 111 State Representatives and 37 State Senators in Springfield from the six-county RTA area. This is more than a 3/5 majority in each house. Given a well-written bill, which is fair to all parts of the region, there is no reason why they could not return to the voters in November with an RTA Act worthy of approval.

With the current gasoline shortage, commuter railroads in this area are actually experiencing an increased ridership; they will not collapse before a new and better law can be drafted.

Even the supporters of the present RTA Act admit that it has flaws which, they say, can be amended after it is approved by the voters. Why take the chance? Amend the law first, then ask us for our support.

Legislators tell views on RTA

EDITORS NOTE: The ANTIOCH NEWS has requested our 32nd District legislators to comment on the upcoming RTA referendum. Senator Karl Berning and Representative Donald Deuster, both Republicans submitted their statements against this measure. These statements appear below. Last week we published the statements of Republican Majority Whip W.J. Murphy and Democratic Minority Whip D.M. Pierce who were in favor of the referendum.

RTA departs from accepted practices, regulations

by: Karl Berning

There is much wrong with S.B. 27, the RTA Act that you are asked to vote on along with the Primary Election, March 19. Many critics have pointed out shortcomings with regard to unlimited taxation, inadequate representation, and an insufficient guarantee of funding to improve transportation services in the outlying counties.

Perhaps the most serious deficiency in the RTA Act is the lack of any outside regulation or control over the actions of the appointed Board.

There will be, according to the provisions of the law, no supervision or regulation of any transportation agency by any unit of local government, not even with regard to what streets or lanes may be used "exclusively" by RTA vehicles.

The law also exempts RTA any transportation agency (CTA and commuter railroads) under agreement with it from the Illinois Commerce Commission regulations. The ICC act requires that public transportation fares and services be "just and reasonable." There's no comparable prescription in S.B. 27.

Furthermore, the ICC act has an elaborate procedure allowing for citizen complaints, public hearings, public inspection of books and property of transportation agencies, reparations for over-charges, civil damages and penalties. S.B. 27 provides none of these guarantees and remedies.

Another section of the RTA Act allows the authority to establish whatever pension plan it desires, completely independent of the State as to benefits and level of funding. In 1963 the Illinois Pension Code was approved, governing all state and local government employees. RTA employee pension plans would be completely exempt from this code.

Even the taxing power of the Board would be unregulated. One of the new taxes provided for in the law is one on "The privilege of parking motor vehicles at parking facilities." This has broad implications, because "parking facilities" is undefined and unrestricted. Nor is the rate of taxation specified or limited.

Taxes imposed by the RTA Board and civil penalties imposed incident thereto are to be collected and enforced by the State Department of Revenue. This represents direct costs to the State of Illinois, to be paid with more tax dollars from the entire State.

The RTA Directors, who would be appointed and not elected, could issue bonds and notes up to one-half billion dollars without referendum, at private sale, uncompetitively, with no vote or control by taxpayers or those who appointed them.

The funding of the RTA raises serious questions. The Act provides for the transfer from the State General Revenue Fund to the RTA of 3/8 of one percent of State sales tax collected in the area.

By amendment to the Illinois Vehicle Code, $14 of each State auto license fee paid in Chicago is transferred to RTA. These highway funds are morally obligated now to retire the $600 million highway bonds and should not be touched.

These last two concepts are radical departures from present practice involving State revenue and establish a dangerous precedent. Any other county, region or area could demand -- and, of course, get -- the very same diversion of State funds for similar or even other purposes. This can only lead to increased State income tax and motor vehicle taxes.

As a final note, though there is much more that I could say, nowhere in the Act is RTA required to reduce fares or improve and expand public transportation service throughout the region.

I am not entirely opposed to a regional transit authority, recognizing that public transportation must be improved and that very likely we are at the point where governmental subsidy must be provided since no system is able to function any longer out of fare receipts.

I voted for the two previous Republican RTA bills and will support, in the Spring session, a reasonable RTA bill, if the March 19 referendum is defeated.

RTA proposal is defective

by: Donald E. Deuster

Although there is a long-range need for improving transportation services in Lake County and Northeastern Illinois, voters of Antioch and the six-county region should vote "No" and reject the defective proposal which will appear on a blue ballot on March 19th.

The bill was hastily drawn after a secret meeting of political leaders and it contains countless serious defects, deficiencies and taxpayer dangers. The most critical shortcomings are these: (1) the appointed RTA Board has unlimited tax powers; (2) representation on the RTA Board is inadequate and probably unconstitutional; (3) there is no effective guarantee that the transit services and monies will be apportioned fairly throughout the region.

Briefly, the proposed RTA would impose a new 50 percent sales tax on gasoline on every motorist in Antioch and throughout this entire region as well as a new parking tax which is not limited in any way.

Besides the unlimited taxes which the RTA would impose, the RTA Board would be overwhelmingly dominated by Cook County, and Lake County is not assured of a direct voting voice on the RTA Board.

The Mayor of the City of Chicago appoints one-half of the basic eight-member Board. Six of these eight would then choose a ninth person as Chairman. This Chairman would be a voting member of the Board. Of the six members from Cook County, the Mayor's four would dominate, and this faction could choose the Chairman, thus adding a seventh vote (out of nine) to their strength.

Beyond the unlimited tax powers and the lack of direct representation on the RTA Board, as one who has devoted great study to the subject of transportation, it is my opinion that the people of Antioch and Lake County would derive no benefit whatsoever from this particular RTA.

This RTA would simply subsidize the CTA and commuter railroad deficits, without

About 250 of Antioch's young people jam the Antioch Bowling Lanes every Saturday, part of the Majors, Juniors and Preps Leagues. Norm Thibedeau said that, when he came here about five years ago there were only about 150 kids in the program.

The league runs from

Care of Hamsters

All hamsters are burrowing animals. They thrive in a warm climate, usually making their home in the earth near a grain field. Among their many interesting characteristics is an omnivorous appetite and an intense desire to hoard food. To satisfy this need, nature provides the hamster with large, flexible cheek pouches which he uses to carry food to a hiding place in his nest. A hamster will almost never refuse food. If he is not hungry, he will accept it and carry it to his storehouse. Despite this miserly characteristic of hoarding anything he can stuff into his mouth, the hamster is a very clean animal.

A keen sense of hearing, makes up for his notably poor eyesight. This latter factor has great bearing on the training of your hamster. A home with a temperature of 55° to 70° F. is ideal for the hamster. At about 45° F. these little teddybear-like animals go into a state of hibernation.

Environment: A cage 12 by 15 inches and 15 inches high will do adequately for a single or a pair of hamsters. An exercise wheel on the side of the cage is advisable. Since hamsters love to gnaw, a metal cage is far superior to wood. A self-cleaning floor in the cage made of number 6 wire screening will allow droppings to fall through onto a slopping floor. Should a solid floor be used, cleaning should be done at least twice a week to insure the cleanliness required for the health of the animal. Water can be dispensed from containers having a 1/4 inch glass tube at the drinking end.

Driver loses control, car crosses four lawns

An out-of-control car cut across four lawns on North Main Street Saturday night, knocking down several shrubs, a large pine tree, a sign and part of a stone wall.

The driver of the car, Karen Nelson of Wildwood, was apparently uninjured, as she refused medical treatment. She was charged by Antioch police with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The accident occurred at about 11:30.

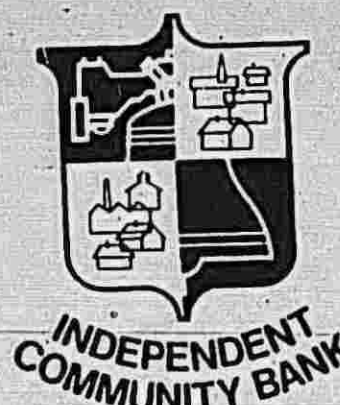

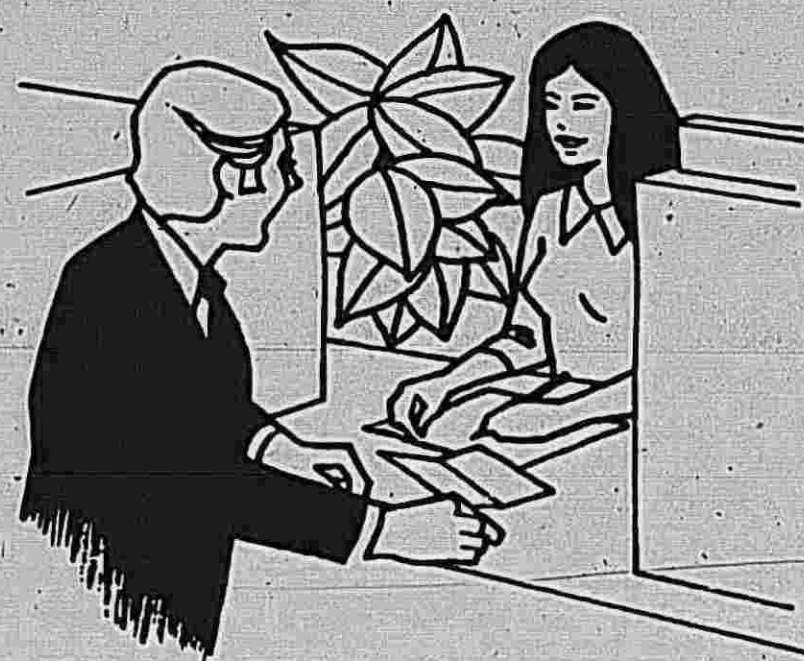

A witness, who was driving a car northbound on Main directly behind Ms. Nelson, told police at the scene that the car suddenly swerved to the right in front of the Scout House. Police reported that the car continued across the lawn at 735 Main, through a row of shrubbery, across the lawn at 729 Main, where it hit and knocked down one of a row of large pine trees. The vehicle then angled across the lawn of the Antioch clinic, demolishing a sign, bounced off of a stone wall between the Clinic and 701 Main, and veered across Main Street, where it finally came to a rest on the west parkway.

Ms. Nelson reportedly told police that she swerved to avoid a southbound car that was in her lane. The witness did not mention such a vehicle in his account, according to the police report.

Nine-member Board would run RTA

If voters in six Northeastern Illinois counties approve a referendum on the establishment of a Regional Transportation Authority next Tuesday, a Board of nine Directors would bear the responsibility for bringing the organization into being and guiding it throughout its existence.

The Board would also have to finance these services, first of all by continuing some level of fares. Costs beyond those covered by fare box receipts would be met through public taxation. For the first year, $171 million is anticipated from such taxes and public monies.

The law creating the RTA specifically states that the Board "shall be so appointed... on the one man one vote basis." (Sec. 3.01 (g)) Herein lies one of the major controversies over the RTA.

There are approximately 7 million persons living in the six county region. 3.4 million (48 percent) live in Cook County outside the City of Chicago; and 1.5 million (22 percent) live in the five outlying counties.

The Mayor of Chicago would appoint four members to the Board; the Cook County Board members representing areas outside Chicago would jointly name two Directors; and the Chairmen of the County Boards of the five outlying counties would jointly name two members to the Board.

Critics of the proposal say that this representation is not fair to the outlying areas. The only county that would be assured of direct representation on the Board will be Cook, because, they imply, the two Directors from the outlying areas would be most concerned about their own counties.

Moreover, it has been pointed out, while the Mayor of Chicago can name four Directors by himself, the other four would be named by a total of ten people. Six of the eight Directors would then choose a ninth person as voting Chairman.

Thus, the opponents say, the Board would be dominated by the Mayor of Chicago.

Those who support the RTA point again to the stipulation that the Directors be appointed on a one man one vote basis. Actually, they assert, the outlying counties are slightly over-represented. To give each County at least one member on the Board would require a total of more than 60 members, they add.

Where would the tax monies come from that these men would spend?

Almost half -- $80 million -- would represent a portion of revenue from the existing Sales Tax diverted from the General Fund of the State to the RTA. Another $16 million would be gained by diverting part of the auto license plate fees paid in Chicago from the Highway Fund to the RTA.

Some critics have contended that these funds are "morally obligated" for other purposes. Supporters counter that for years Chicago has paid more into the Highway Fund than it has received in benefits. They also remind the critics that the City of Chicago is required to contribute $5 million to the RTA, besides providing that same amount in each services such as police protection, snow removal, etc.

Two new taxes could -- and probably would -- be imposed by the Board: a 5 percent Sales Tax on Motor Fuel and a tax on "the privilege of parking."

The Parking Tax has aroused the most controversy. Opponents claim that it is not defined in the law as to level of taxation or extent of coverage. Proponents counter that the intent of this tax was made clear in the debate on the proposed law and in previous court rulings.

It is mainly directed, they say, at inner city, downtown parking lots -- not suburban church lots or driveways -- in order to discourage commuters from driving their own car. As such, they add, it fits in exactly with the purposes of the RTA.

Supplies blood where needed, says Red Cross

The American Red Cross responded this week to complaints that its blood program "takes blood out of Lake County," in a letter from the blood program chairman to leaders of all local Red Cross blood groups.

"There is absolutely no point in having blood - which is highly perishable -- on a shelf in Lake County when a Lake County resident needs it in one of Chicago's major hospitals," said George E. Keck, blood program chairman for the Mid-America Chapter of Red Cross.

Keck's letter states that Red Cross supplies blood to all persons participating in its program, regardless of where they may be hospitalized -- anywhere in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

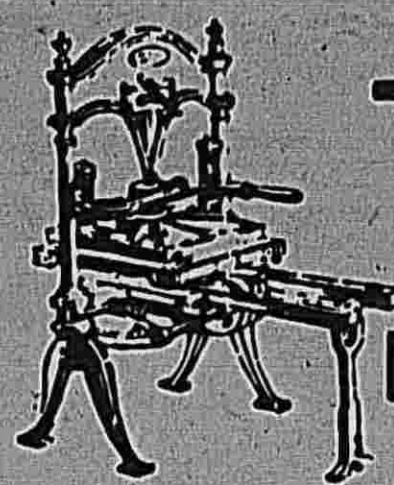

In the last year of record, Keck says Red Cross can trace and identify at least 1,074 units of blood and blood products which have "come back into Lake County." Of these, 717 units were supplied to Blumberg Memorial Blood Bank in Waukegan and hospitals in Lake County, and 357 units were transfused to Lake County residents hospitalized elsewhere.

Keck refuted the comment that there is "competition" between Red Cross and Blumberg, stating that Red Cross supplies blood to Blumberg, and is ready at all times to make blood directly available to Blumberg or Lake County hospitals, when they need it.

More than 100,000 Lake County residents are covered for all of their blood needs through Red Cross programs based in the county.

really solving the transportation problems confronting our region. The CTA and commuter railroads alone cannot take people to their jobs in the suburbs. The great need is for new cross-country bus services to serve lake County and areas such as Antioch and to coordinate these services with commuter railroads. S.B. 27 contains no guarantee of these vitally needed new services.

Until that is done first, it is unfair and unwise to impose two new taxes on the motorist without giving the motorist any choice.

Actually, the simple question that Antioch voters will be considering on March 19th is this: 'Do you want a Chicago dominated RTA Board to collect two new taxes from all of the people of Antioch - a new 5 percent gas tax and a new, unlimited parking tax?'

Exhibit Planned For Next Coin Club Meeting

Occult Science At Next Woman's Club Meeting

Jack Maynard of the Great Lakes Identified Objects Association of Waukegan fascinated the members of the Antioch Woman's Club at their March 4th meeting with a talk on unidentified flying objects. "Men from outer space are watching over us and want to keep us from destroying ourselves," he said. Members of his group have seen flying saucers and tried to contact them.

He showed slides of UFO's taken over various countries and admitted some probably were fakes, although most were genuine. He dwelled especially on one picture taken by the Pentagon, which when blown up showed a man looking out a porthole.

The Russian astronauts were surrounded by flying saucers on their trip to outer space and John Glenn was having difficulty returning to Earth on his space flight and was assisted by vehicles from possibly Jupiter or Saturn. These people have developed a system of anti-gravity and probably put the Sphinx in place with this knowledge, according to Maynard.

ded at the meeting and was elated when the assembly sang Happy Birthday in her honor.

Plans for the Dessert Card Party to be held in the Community Room on April 22nd are in high gear and all indicators point to a responsive turnout. There will be prizes galore. The fun starts at 11 a.m. and runs until 3 p.m.

Two other events are on the agenda for club members: The Federation of Women's Clubs - 10th District is sponsoring a luncheon and fashion show at the Highland Park Country Club on April 4th and The Lake County Federation of Woman's Clubs will have their annual luncheon at Holiday Inn, Routes 45 & 83 in Mundelein on April 17th. Those wishing to attend may obtain tickets from Fern Watson.

AWC tour to Pheasant Run Playhouse has been changed to April 24th. However, Lucille Hojem reports the bus is full and she cannot take any more reservations.

The next meeting will be on March 18th in the Community Room of the First National Bank at 1 p.m. "The Occult Sciences" will be presented by Libby Chartok. ESP, Reincarnation, Automatic Drawing and Writing are what her program is all about. Miss Chartok has taught classes on the occult sciences for twenty-five years at the Waukegan YMCA and the Chicago YMCA and YWCA.

This meeting is also Guest Day and members are urged to bring a guest to hear this interesting lecture.

American Legion Auxiliary

A New Citizens' Reception, co-sponsored by the 10th District American Legion and the Auxiliary, will be held on March 19th, at 8:00 p.m. at the Homer Dahringer American Legion Home in Waukegan. District co-chairmen are Hugh Maynard, Zion, junior vice commander; and Mrs. Jean Keehn of Libertyville, Auxiliary Americanism chairman.

Following the presentation of district colors by the Gurnee American Legion Honor Guard led by Department Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Ed Jahneke, the invocation will be said by Mrs. A.J. Dorn, Mundelein, district auxiliary chaplain. The Pledge of Allegiance will be given by Mrs. Everett Mobert, Lake Bluff, Regent of North Shore Chapter, D.A.R. Mrs. Minard Hulse of Waukegan, accompanied by Earl Trier, Fox Lake, pianist, will lead the audience in singing the national anthem.

Addresses of welcome will be said by district president Mrs. Norman Holt and district commander William Schultz, both of North Chicago.

Mrs. Thomas Booth, Waukegan, will read the manuscript: "The Flag Speaks." She represents the Womens' Relief Corps (WRS).

Guest speaker will be Petar Cvitkovic of Waukegan, a metal specialist for Air-Con Company, Inc., who is a Croatian by birth. Just after World War II when Petar was seven years old, his father was killed by the Yugoslavian communists. He was sent to a military school, and his mother was placed in a refugee camp. Petar did not see his mother until he was thirteen years old and started his apprenticeship in metal work. All their property and possessions had been confiscated by the communists, leaving the mother and son in rather desperate straits. In 1957 young Cvitkovic joined the Yugoslavian Air Service, escaping to Italy in 1959, and then on to the United States that same year. Here, he met and married an American girl of Croatian descent, and they now have four children. Cvitkovic is active in Y.M.C.A. work and his children are in the Indian Guides and Indian Princesses. He has also organized two "tamburitza" (a Croatian stringed instrument) of approximately 30 people each, and they held a successful concert last November in Waukegan. This man has an inspiring message on Americanism for the new citizens.

Entertainment will be musical selections from Fishers'

Harmonetto's of Zion. "I Am The Flag", a reading, will be said by Mrs. Louis Thompson of the Waukegan American Legion Auxiliary.

Some 35 persons will receive their naturalization papers from Lake County Circuit Court Clerk Mrs. Stephanie Sulthin of Lake Bluff.

Presentations will be made by Mrs. E. Moberg, North Shore Chapter DAR; Mrs. Nestor Daggitt, Waukegan Chapter DAR; Mrs. Marie Meyers, National Daughters of the Grand Army of the Republic; Mrs. Thomas Booth, WRC; Mrs. Louis Thompson, Waukegan Legion Auxiliary; and Mrs. Alice O'Dell, World War I Veterans Auxiliary.

All American Legion Posts and Units, other participating organizations, are asked to post their colors at 7:30 p.m. so that there may be a background display of flags for the reception. The district colors will be retired and Roy Lundsten, Wauconda, district chaplain, will give the benediction. With the singing of America, the reception will be over.

Refreshments will be served by the Baxter Evans, Highland Park, Highland, Lake Bluff, Wauconda, Winthrop Harbor and the Zion-Benton American Legion Auxiliaries.

Reservations should reach Mrs. Joseph Hogue, Waukegan, 10th District leadership training chairman, by March 20th, for those people wishing to attend the District Leadership Development Training Course on March 31st, at 2:00 p.m. promptly, at the Libertyville American Legion Home. "The future belongs to those leaders preparing for it today" is the slogan launching this leadership campaign. After six years of study and presentation, the original 12 hour seminar is now a compact, concise, condensed and new study with all the essentials necessary for a successful showing in a little over two hours. Mrs. Herbert Gleason, Libertyville, and Mrs. A.J. Dorn, Mundelein, will aid Mrs. Hogue in its presentation. There will be a small registration fee to cover the cost of needed materials. Although this course is an American Legion Auxiliary program, legionnaires and non-members are welcome to attend it. The Leadership Development Training Course teaches and instructs officers and members how to preside at a meeting, parliamentary procedure, etc., and it is vitally important in helping a good member become a better one.

Exempt from these regulations are ladies' handbags or pocketbooks, cameras, a reasonable amount of personal clothing and reading material. All other carry-ons, including briefcases, hat boxes, wig boxes, cosmetic cases, musical instruments and packages, must be of such dimensions that they may be securely stored under the passenger's seat. ## Sequoit Happenings

Bits from Barb

By: Barb Olson

The big bad Antioch Sequoits roll on! Tuesday night the mighty Sequoits defeated Woodstock in a cakewalk of a basketball game. They then followed this up by a defeat of conference-rival Grant. This means Antioch goes to Rock Valley College near Rockford next Wednesday to begin play in Sectionals. Their first opponent will be Rockford-Guilford, a very tough team. Earlier this year, during a Christmas tournament, Antioch beat them by one point. So the game looks to be a good one.

Congratulations to Scott Shaffer! In State competition, he finished sixth in the state in his weight class of 112 pounds. Again, congratulations to Scott on a job well done.

Monday, for the first time in history of Antioch High School, Antioch competed in a gymnastics meet. To top it off, representing Antioch was an all-girl gymnastics team. The meet was held at Marengo with Antioch competing on the balance beam, uneven parallel bars, the vault, and in floor exercises.

Saturday, March 23, Antioch will be participating in a national Spanish test at Evanston. All of the contestants have not been picked yet, but a wish of good luck goes out to each of them.

Antioch youth has taken matters into its own hands. Student council members and other volunteers have begun circulating petitions calling for reinstatement of the youth fare from the airlines. Eventually, these petitions will be sent to our representatives and senators in Washington.

Marge Nelson Hits High Density, Conflict Of Interest In County Board Campaign

Margaret (Marge) Nelson, Antioch Trustee and candidate in the March 19 Primary Election for a Republican nomination for County Board from District 4, has cited high density Planned Unit Developments and conflict of interest among government officials as two key issues in the County Board campaign.

"Planned Unit Developments, known as PUD's, are surrounding us and moving in on us too rapidly," she said in a statement issued to the press last Thursday. "We cannot accept such rapid and uncontrolled growth for our tax structure." A former Planning Commission member, Mrs. Nelson criticized County Board members for passing zoning changes, "without considering all the pitfalls," mentioning sanitary problems, flooding and schools as a few examples of the problems involved.

"I am opposed to high

ISU Students In Off Campus Project

Twenty-five Illinois State University students are extending their education this semester in Lake County. They are juniors majoring in special education who are participating in the 'Junior Semester Off Campus' project, now in its fourth semester in Lake County.

The field experience program is a cooperative effort between the Department of Special Education at ISU and the special Education District of Lake County (SEDOL), a cooperative district representing 42 public school districts throughout Lake County.

The students live in the area, some commuting from home or private apartments and some living at Barat college, Lake Forest through agreement between the college and ISU. Each student is assigned to a classroom in an area of special education. The areas of educating the mentally retarded and maladjusted receive primary emphasis.

Krista Barlow, 434 Orchard St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Barlow of Antioch is participating in this project at the Hainsville School.

density," Mrs. Nelson stated. "The resident taxpayer suffers, while the developer profits."

She also hit conflict of interest among appointed and elected officials, giving the example of "elected officials having the opportunity to vote on which banking establishments shall retain the taxpayer's money, while they themselves are on the Board of Directors of that bank."

Mrs. Nelson expressed dissatisfaction that some of the area Republican Clubs have announced endorsements of the incumbents, who are seeking re-election.

"It is difficult to believe that (these clubs) can support and endorse the incumbents by believing that there is no need for a change and that the incumbents are doing such a good job."

"Someone has not done their homework," she added.

Moosehaven Chairman Berniece Alhert was escorted to the altar where she introduced the members of her committee. Mr. Hucker is a representative of Halfway House in Waukegan and explained most of the functions of this organization in supporting young men released from jail in becoming good citizens again.

After roll call, the workers returned a favorable ballot on new applications.

The Chapter then proceeded with the enrollment of Robert Warren and Renee Ruehle, sponsored by Chairman Berniece Alhert.

"I spent money for duplicate copies of an Appellate Court brief which I have sent to Village Boards and School Boards in District 4, as I felt it was of importance with reference to schools, developers and resident taxpayers. Naturally, there have been postal costs," the candidate said.

She indicated that circulars and posters are "a costly waste" and "a form of pollution." Nor did she express much confidence in newspaper advertising, while "editorials and printed articles will fraudulently endorse the wrong candidate."

In keeping with her position of independence, she stated that she has personally turned down contributions toward her campaign. "I do not want to have any of my decisions questioned as to whether or not I owed a favor or was obligated," she said.

With A "Stern Eye"

Crisp and brown from cap to collarbone, we're back from a splendid week in Colorado. Three of our about-grown sons are scattered about the state in various stages of their education, so besides the good food and good rest and good skiing (if that happens to be your bag) we had the additional joy of good talk with them.

As seems invariably to be the case though, we returned to find all sorts of things had happened behind our backs. First off, 'they' raised the postage rate. Who ever heard of spending 10 cents to send a check across town? Or even worse—8 cents for a postcard? And in a year when every politician is going to be mailing pounds of unsolicited nuisance material to his constituents, this politician at least, found it an unwelcome stick in the eye.

High winds, we discovered had flung our mailbox across the driveway and into the euonymus; and the basketball stanchions (6" square posts, supporting the steel ring, long nude of its net) were sprawled across the driveway. Whatever it was that struck during our absence, wrought havoc in every corner of the yard.

Meanwhile back at the County Clerk's office, voting machines had been filled, ballots counted and packed up, supply boxes stocked and all seems to be coming right as we approach the March 19th Primary. "We're way ahead of schedule!" said Terry. "You ought to go away more often." Maybe I will.

Politically there doesn't seem to be much stirring. The few Primary contests to be decided in March don't seem to arouse fever in the voters; at least not yet. And the long fought question of Mike Graham's presence on the Republican Primary ballot for County Board District No. 5 seems to have been settled. I say "seems" because each day has brought a change.

To recap for those readers who may have been in Acapulco when Graham's petition hit the fan: Shortly after the close of petition filing for the County Board, the Clerk's office received a challenge to the validity of Mike Graham's petition. There were not enough valid Republican signators, said the complaint—partly because three of the signers had voted in the previous Democratic Primary—and partly because some of the addresses were incomplete. There were a number of other points made, some more cogent than others. The County's Electoral Board met, heard evidence, and rendered a split decision to sustain the challenge. Graham was ruled off the ballot by a vote of 2-1.

Graham's appeal was heard shortly after, and Chief Judge Van Deusen knocked down the findings of the Electoral Board. The County Clerk was ordered to place Graham's name back on the ballot. His decision by the way, included the constitutional observation that a voter's rights include the right to sign the petition of a Republican candidate though the voter might have taken a Democratic ballot at a Primary within 23 months. (And obviously, vice versa!) The Pontikes-Kusper decision has had long tentacles!

Shortly thereafter, the State's Attorney in the name of the Electoral Board, filed an appeal against the Judge's reversal. It got as far as the Appellate Court where it was knocked down. I don't know if the reason for its demise was related to the fact that the Electoral Board had not authorized the appeal; in fact no sooner was it filed than the Board met and voted (again 2-1, but the alignment was different) that the State's Attorney was specifically not authorized to appeal on the Board's behalf. It doesn't matter though, because two Assistant State's Attorneys are doing all the ghost-writing and research for the case anyway.

Another appeal, filed in the name of the four original petition challengers, did get as far as the Appellate Court and some kind of decision. A ruling was rendered that the issue is now moot inasmuch as some absentee voters have voted the ballot which includes Graham's name.

Now gentle reader, comes word that the Appeals Court has been asked to reconsider that 'mootness' question (again the petition is filed in the name of the four challengers with the actual legal work being done by members of the State's Attorney's office. "I didn't even think it was any secret," one of them said to me when I taxed him for it.)

The Election is March 19th; voters are, this minute, casting absentee ballots by mail and in person. Moot Schmoot, gentlemen; the time for these two-bit games is past.....

4-H holds leader's dinner

The more than 250 leaders and friends of 4-H attending the 1974 4-H Leaders Thank You dinner represented one of the hardest working group of 4-H leaders ever assembled. The volunteers were being recognized for their contributions in 1973, a year of great changes and innovations in Lake County 4-H. They were being honored, also, for their pledge to continue working with 4-H in 1974.

The program featured Mr. Joe Kirby of the News-Sun, who stressed the youth's involvement in relevant issues of their society such as community services conservation-ecology projects, local government operations, and leadership roles.

In addition to Mr. Kirby's speech, many leaders were awarded special pins and medals. Receiving alumni recognition medals were: Tom DeMeyer, D.V.M. Mrs. Len Lagerstrom, of Antioch, Mrs. James Rhoades of Grayslake, and Mr. Burnell Russell of Volo.

Receiving five year clover pins were Mrs. Gerald Miller, Mrs. Sevy Molino, Mrs. Phillip Ogden, Al Porter, Mrs. Carl Scheske, and Mr. Jerome Will. Throughout the year, fellow Lake Countians' support 4-H by contributing to the Illinois 4-H Foundation. ## 4-H'ers prepare for Achievement Night

The Sequoit Suzies and Sequoit Warriors and their families had a swimming party at the new Duncan YMCA instead, of their regularly scheduled March business meeting. Lynette Hamlin and Lori Nathan were hostesses for the evening.

The Sequoit Suzies will meet March 28, 1974 at the First National Bank of Antioch at 7:30 p.m. to discuss plans for their Achievement night, April 4.

The February meeting the two clubs participated in a safety activity. Kathy Walsh arranged for the 4-H'ers to visit the Antioch Fire department. Becky and Riccarda Janka served as co-hostesses at this meeting that started with a tour of the fire house that was conducted by Tom Borla, a volunteer fireman. Many thanks to Mr. Borla for the time he devoted to the 4-H'ers that evening. Mr. C. Hamlin also enlightened the members on Electricity and many phases of electricity. Rosaline Scheske gave a members a First Aid demonstration. Host for the boys at this meeting was Jack Whiber.

Eagle Scout tours bank

In preparation for the Boy Scouts of America - Eagle Recognition Dinner, held on Friday March 8, 1974, David Edwards, Troop No. 92 Eagle Scout, Rte 5, Antioch, Illinois visited the State Bank of Antioch.

David's sponsor, Ed Roach, institutional representative of the State Bank, gave him a personal comprehensive demonstration of banking functions with emphasis on Accounting as his most specific vocational choice.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Edwards, a 16 year old Junior at Antioch Community High School, is a recipient of the Eagle God and Country Award, served on the ACHS Student Executive Board and Makajawan Staff. He is planning to attend college as a business major.

The Eagle Recognition Dinner was held for Eagle Scouts participating in a vocational guidance program. This procedure allows a young man to meet an outstanding man in the field of endeavor in which he has expressed interest; he is then given the opportunity to meet his sponsor at his place of business and learn the prerequisites and working conditions of the vocation. The dinner serves as a medium to give formal recognition to the boy for achieving the highest rank in Scouting.

Eagle Scouts and their sponsors assembled at the Officers' Club in Great Lakes, Illinois for the occasion and the program proved interesting and entertaining to all in attendance.

Comprehensive Plan moves ahead

The Antioch Planning Commission gave unanimous approval for professional planner Bruce Christensen to proceed with the writing of a Preliminary Plan for the Village of Antioch.

The Preliminary Plan will be a "working document" for the Commission while it drafts a more-detailed Comprehensive Plan, Christensen said.

Christensen and the firm he represents, Harland, Bartholomew and Associates, have been working on the Plan since early last Fall. Among the tasks completed thus far -- most of which will be incorporated into the Preliminary Plan -- are: a map of existing land uses, a statement of goals for the Plan, a Resident Attitude Survey, and a preliminary Land Use and Major Thoroughfare Map.

The last mentioned map was first presented to the Planning Commission in January and had been gradually revised and refined through discussion among the professional planner and the Commission members.

The Planning Commission met February 21 and discussed their thoughts about the map. Last Thursday they then offered these comments to Christensen, who said that he would incorporate these suggestions into the Preliminary Plan. The Commission members then voted approval for the preliminary map, with their suggested revisions, as a basis for the Preliminary Plan.

Christensen said that work on the Preliminary Plan should be completed by sometime in April.

Antioch students compete in District Speech contest

The 1974 District Speech Contest of the Illinois High School Association was held Saturday, March 2, at Waukegan High School West Campus. Seven students represented Antioch High, competing against speakers from Buffalo Grove, Cary Grove, Deerfield, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Libertyville, North Chicago, Stevenson, Waukegan and Wheeling.

Sandy Lindberg won a second place in Verse Reading, advancing to the Sectional Contest on March 10.

Kevin LaChance received a fifth place in Extempore Speaking. Chris Lindberg, interpreting a cutting from "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man in the Moon Marigolds," placed fourth in the first round of Dramatic Interpretation, but failed to place in the final round.

Chris Walpole achieved a sixth place in Prose Reading, reading from the works of Thurber and Bradbury. John Rooker won a fifth place in Oratorical Declamation, with "Victory over Self" by Turbel and Robin Hunley performed a scene from "The Voice of the Turtle" in Humorous Interpretation. Lois Geist and Sandy Lindberg performed as an acting duo in a humorous cutting from "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Coaches for the contest were Marsha Wietecha, Judy Hebenstreet and Don Beveroth.

Betty Lou Reed directs campaign at voter need

Heading into the final days of the March 19 primary election, Republican Betty Lou Reed said that she feels that her campaign has demonstrated the need for and importance of good, responsible representation in the Illinois General Assembly.

There are the usual concerns about rising taxes, pollution, zoning and the cost of living. "These are the things people worry about from day to day because it directly affects them," the Deerfield mother of two girls said.

PLEASE SAVE YOUR PAPER FOR US! The Eighth Graders of the Antioch Upper Grade School are having a paper drive this month. Money earned is to be used toward the Eighth Grade Graduation Dinner-Party to be held in May. The paper drive ends March 24.

"But most importantly, the people of the 32nd District want someone they can turn to, someone who will listen, someone who can do something about their day-to-day problems," Mrs. Reed said.

"Time and again I'm told by people that they want more from their elected officials than a handshake or a promise only at election time," Mrs. Reed said.

Campaigning in the same fashion as she promises to represent the 32nd District if elected, Mrs. Reed has come up with what she calls, "a solid idea for returning state government to the people."

In addition to serving full time as an elected representative, Mrs. Reed promises to hold regular public monthly meetings in the 12 townships of the 32nd District. These will be held in each township on a rotating basis throughout the year, even when the General Assembly is in session.

"What I'm proposing is the elimination of the traditional district office maintained by representatives," Mrs. Reed stated. "The 32nd District is too diverse with far too many people having too many different views to be adequately represented by a single office.

On matters directly affecting special areas such as teachers, insurance agents, municipal officials, policemen, volunteer firemen, homeowner's associations, etc., Mrs. Reed promised to personally consult as many individuals as possible about specific legislation affecting them.

Fulfilling these promises should be easy for Mrs. Reed. A former member of the Lake County Board of Supervisors, she has served for the past two years as liaison between the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs and more than 300 local government units in Northern Illinois. In those two years she has been in personal contact with members of each of these units.

"I've been able to accomplish things on their behalf and I know that the same can be done for the people of the 32nd District," Mrs. Reed said.

"Given the chance on March 19, I will continue my people-to-people campaign for as long as the people want me to provide the type of representative government they expect from their elected officials."

Life Underwriters To Meet

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Lake County Life Underwriters will be held Friday Noon, March 15, 1974 at the Swedish Glee Club, on Belvidere Road in Waukegan.

The meeting will feature Ken Rosko, CLU, from Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. Mr. Rosko will speak on advanced underwriting, a case history from start to finish.

Every agent who as yet is not in the advanced underwriting field should familiarize himself in this field of Underwriting, says Jim Alleman, President of the Lake County Association.

Mr. Rosko is a graduate of the University of Illinois and started in the Insurance Business in 1957. He earned his CLU designation in 1967, and is a provisional applicant of the Million Dollar Round Table on sales of 2½ million in 1973.

Ken is on the Waukegan - North Chicago Chamber of Commerce and the Estate Planning Council. He is also on the Board of Directors of the Waukegan City Club and the Lake County Life Underwriters Association.

Officials air views on planning

of the North Main property owners and the effect of what happens in that area on the rest of the Village.

All of those interests are not necessarily compatible.

The property owners find themselves in a bind because of rising land values. Previous rezonings and consequent development—such as the Joanna Apartments—have made the land on the east side of North Main useless for anything except multiple family projects, the owners contend. Suddenly, however, they find that it is apparently not as easy to get one's property rezoned as it was just a couple years ago.

Pete Clevon, vice-president of The First National Bank and a member of the Zoning Board, cited part of the reason for the problem. Because the nearby property is used for or zoned for apartments, it is assessed at a higher value, he pointed out. This, in turn, pushes up the valuation of all land in the neighborhood, Clevon said, because the assessor only has nearby land values to go on. Faced with this rising tax burden, the owners have no viable alternative but to look for a buyer interested in development, Clevon continued. Nobody is going to buy the property for a single family home, he added.

Planning Commission member Don Amundsen expanded on this idea, pointing out that, in such a situation, there is a tendency on the part of the property owners to let their house deteriorate. Since these people have been led to believe that they can get the rezoning for their property, Amundsen commented, it becomes economically unfeasible to pour money into upkeep on a house that will ultimately be torn down.

However, he added, the property values in the area are highly inflated and are based on "a lot of imagination and a lot of assumptions" (about rezoning).

Christensen warned that to zone on this basis would "condone" this problem. He and the members of the firm he represents believe that their recommendations are economically sound and that the areas can be preserved as low density uses, Christensen told the officials.

"If there is a hardship, if there's just no way he (a property owner) can do it, then we have to look at the Plan again," Christensen admitted. "There has to be flexibility in the Plan."

On the other hand, it was pointed out several times that granting one request for rezoning would undoubtedly increase pressure for additional rezoning.

Amundsen predicted: "If we do specify North and South Main Street as high density, I think we're going to see deterioration on those individual buildings, until such time as the building is worth less than the land. And then it will be torn down, and we'll get an apartment building on a narrow lot with a driveway out onto Main Street."

He asserted that the problem was not as much one of whether an individual property should be developed with apartments, but "to envision row after row, apartment after apartment of that type, up and down Main Street, with individual driveways to each one."

Accompanying such a situation would be a host of problems involving traffic, parking, sewage treatment, among others, the critics contend.

Christensen pointed out that this was one of the considerations of the Planning Commission before making the recommendation to deny the Young's petition. The Commission made its recommendation, he said, after hearing the alternatives which faced them. The decision concerning the Young property, he added, was made only after general agreement had been reached on how the members wished to see Main Street develop.

The lack of any consensus among the members of the various bodies Wednesday night points up the difficulty of the dilemma facing the decision makers. A comment by Mayor Robert Wilton to Attorney Clark seems to best sum up the situation.

He said, "There's been a lot of mistakes made in this Village, and we don't want to make any more than we have to."

"Take Home A Bunch Of Spring"

Visitors to the Chicago Flower and Garden Show will have their choice of four tour routes when they visit the colorful extravaganza of flowers and fountains at McCormick Place, March 23 through 31. Each tour route is circular, so that the visitor returns to the starting point after his tour, and then can proceed on another tour route if he so desires.

The description and walking time of the tours are as follows: the Promenade giving an overall view of the beautiful gardens and exhibits, should take approximately 30 minutes; the Garden Loop Tour, called the "heart of the Show," one hour; the Median Path, showing gardens on one side and commercial exhibits on the other, one hour and a half; and the Shoppers Circuit Tour, covering a complete spectrum of shopping areas, two hours.

The Show opens on Saturday, March 23 and closes on Sunday, March 31. On Monday through Friday, the hours of the Show are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday except for March 31.

"Camera Day"

A special admission rate of $2.25 for camera enthusiasts will be in effect at the Chicago Flower and Garden Show on Sunday, March 24.

Persons carrying cameras will be admitted at the special rate.

Show officials recommend that photography fans use high speed Ektachrome film, daylight type, either EH 1-35 or EH 1-20 for best results. This film is best used with a 20 cc's red filter and a gelatin filter holder.

General admission to the Show is $3.00 for adults, $1.50 for children. Advance rates are available and the final date for the advance sale is March 22. There is a special rate of $1.50 for Senior Citizens and Students (good Monday through Friday only).

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT CONSERVING ELECTRICITY.

Forgotten filters can cost you money.

Since filters are usually out of sight, they're usually out of mind. That is, until you notice something wrong with your heating or air conditioning. Then you may find a dirty filter behind it.

Dust or lint on filters reduces your system's ability to move heated or cooled air.

It's a good idea to check your filters every 30-60 days. To remind yourself, you may want to do it the same day you pay your fuel bill. If the filter is dirty, clean or replace it. Clean filters also help keep your home cleaner. This principle applies essentially to all heating fuels—electricity, gas or oil.

Don't forget the filter on your clothes dryer either. Clean it after every load to keep your dryer in top operating condition.

Maintaining clean filters is only one area where we have information that can help you conserve energy. If you would like our booklet "101 Ways to Conserve Electricity at Home," write Commonwealth Edison, Department AV, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, Illinois 60690. We'll send it to you free.

Kenosha Flyers take on Oakbrook Arrows

Kenosha's Flyers go into action once again Saturday, March 16 as they take on the Oakbrook Arrows. Game time for this first of three consecutive Saturday home games is 8:00 p.m.

The weekend engagement with Oakbrook should be an interesting event in several respects. First, it is Puck Night, whereby every paying customer will receive a free puck upon entry, identical to those used in the game. Second, a win over Oakbrook would mark player-coach Jerry Kurth's 100th victory at the Flyer's helm. As coach and leading scorer for Kenosha over the past two years, number twenty-one has compiled a record of 99-14-9. Finally, this meeting marks the return of everyone's favorite, defenseman Gene Stoney, as well as the debut of the Flyers most recent acquisition: a six-foot beagle, replete with flyer's headgear and goggles that looks amazingly like Snoopy. Flyer management has not yet determined where this new arrival will play, but he's certain not to be doing much bench-warming.

The Flyers are rapidly approaching the end of what has proven to be an exhausting but productive season. Fifty-three games to date, five of which were played in Kenosha, have produced forty victories against only ten losses and three ties. Before local fans, the record now stands at 3-1-1. Victories over the St. Louis Chiefs, Mundelein Clippers, and Indiana Bruins, coupled with a loss to Indiana and a 3-3 tie with the Woodfield Wildcats have accounted for that tally.

The balance of the Flyers season has been played in the Polar Dome, Dundee, Illinois. There, having concluded the regular forty game schedule in first place, Kenosha will begin playoff action March 17. Being nearly the oldest private ice rink in the Chicagoland area, second only to the Black Hawk's Chicago Stadium, there is considerable prestige connected with the winning of the championship.

Primarily on the basis of their performance this season in Dundee and Kenosha, the Flyers have been invited to join the three year old continental Hockey League. Not unlike the current United States Hockey League, it offers an outstanding quality of paid, semi-professional talent. Composed largely of Canadian and American collegiate players, Continental League teams play, by NHL definition, semi-pro hockey in that: first, they receive less than $250 per week from the game and, second, they do not utilize hockey as their principal occupation. Should the flyers elect to join this coming fall the Continental league's expansion to include the Kenosha franchise would probably necessitate a north-south divisional alignment. The Chicago Cardinals, Team Chicago, Woodfield's Wildcats, and the Flyers would comprise the former, while two St. Louis clubs plus a team from Springfield, Illinois, and the Peoria Blades, who have consistently drawn crowds of over one thousand this season, would constitute the latter. Negotiations are continuing on this topic with a decision expected in about six weeks, pending approval to join and availability of necessary dates at the Kenosha Ice Arena. At this juncture, however, it should be apparent that Kenosha's first semi-pro hockey would like nothing better than to be able to play all of their home games, about twenty-five in the 1974-75 season, at the KIA facility.

Antioch's freshman basketball team completed its season
last week with a heartbreaking 2 point loss to Warren. The score was 48 to 46. Antioch trailed in the game at one time by 19 points but came back strong to see their last shot roll off the rim at the buzzer. Coach Norm Hahn expressed great pride in the way his young team played; especially in the second half. The loss was the 15th of the season against only 3 wins. The
"B" team won their game with Warren 70 to 63 in four overtimes. It was the 4th win for the "B" team against 8 losses.

Although the freshman did not win many games, Coach Norm Hahn and Mark Guthrie felt the players made good progress during the year. Most of the players were able to develop their shots and learn valuable defensive and offensive skills. The following players were team leaders:
scoring-Scott Nohava; rebounding Pat Mullins; assists - Don Norwick; recoveries-Don Norwick; shooting percentage-Drew Dietz; free throw percentage-Brian McGrain.

The team members voted the following team honors: most valuable player-Pat Houghton and Don Norwick tied; team captain-Pat Houghton; most improved player-Peter James.

The following freshmen finished the season as members of the squad: Jim Christiansen,
Rick Dauck, Drew Dietz, Keith
Evanson, John Grippando, Pat
Houghton, Peter James, Brian Kovach, Jeff Lindom, Brian McGrain, Pat Mullins, Scott
Nohava, Don Norwick, Terry
O'Brien, Jim Peterson, Mark
Stewart and Bill Wates. Jim Perez and Fred Malecki were managers.

Coach Hahn feels the team has potential. "All year I kept saying this team would be winners. I still feel that way. It took a long time but we really started to make progress the last few weeks. If the fellas keep working, they will be a good team in the future."

Conservation Youth Corps offers summer jobs

Applications will be accepted until March 25 from young people between 15 and 18 years of age for three Youth Conservation Corps camps to be sponsored next summer by the Illinois Department of Conservation in cooperation with the U.S. Departments of Interior and Agriculture.

Conservation Director Anthony Dean said camp sessions will vary from four to eight weeks and participants will be paid $1.75 per hour, less $2 per day for meals. The camp sites are: Kaskaskia Experimental Forest, 40 miles southeast of Harrisburg; Crab Orchard Federal Wildlife Refuge, east of Carbondale; and Pere Mar-

Sequoits regional champs

The Antioch Sequoits were crowned Regional Champs after a stunning 68-55 victory over Grant on Friday evening in the McHenry West Campus gym.

In their first game of the tournament, the Sequoits rolled to an impressive 81-49 victory over Woodstock. As the game started, Woodstock was controlling the ball in a stall situation and this led to a 4-2 score in favor of Woodstock. At this point in the game, the Sequoits took complete charge -- with great defense, strong press, and some fine balance -- the Antioch cagers scored 26 straight points to put the game out of reach and an easy Sequoit victory. The score at the half was 45 to 20 as the team coasted in the second half. The cagers had five players in double figures on the scoring, lead by Russ Albano's 23 points.

On Wednesday evening, Grant played McHenry and was victorious by a score of 65-59 in a hard fought game.

The game on Friday marked the third meeting between Antioch and Grant, as the Sequoits had beaten them previously 73-63 and 72-68. But Grant again was turned back, as the Sequoits struck fast and after 4 minutes of play, were ahead 13-3. By the end of the quarter, the Sequoits had tore up the Grant zone defense, for a 22-9 lead, thanks to some great shooting by Vic McGuire who scored 14 points in the quarter. The defense was super as Grant couldn't get the ball inside and the Sequoits controlled the boards beautifully. The second quarter was more of the same as Mike Perrone hit for eight points and the defense limited Grant to only six points. The score at the end of the first half was 32 to 15, the Sequoit cagers in complete control.

At the start of the second half, Grant hit Antioch with a full court press and changed their defense to man to man. For a couple of minutes the Antioch team had some problems with the press, but they soon adjusted and, as the quarter ended, still lead by 17 points, 52-35. Grant rotated players trying to tire the Sequoits, but the Sequoits were not to be denied as they continued to roll. All the Sequoits shots were lay ups and good inside shots while Grant was shooting 20-25 footers since they just couldn't get the ball inside past the Antioch defense.

During the fourth quarter, Grant made one more try at the Sequoits, but again the cagers turned them back to preserve their 22nd victory of the season and the 2nd Regional title in the schools history.

The victory was a team effort great scoring for McGuire, Perrone and Albano -- great defense by Andrews as he held Grants scoring star Kemnetz to only three points and some fine floor play by Gutowski as he led the team in assists with 10.

"I am real proud of this team, it has been a super team effort, with each player doing his thing for the team when called upon," quoted coach Andrews.

"Our next game will be against Rockford Guilford, a team we beat 79-78 back in December, I am sure the Sequoit cagers will do a great job," concluded Coach Andrews.

The Sectional tournament game will be on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., at Rock Valley Junior College - located on the far east side of town on Mulford Road.
